Ed. Lafave, a son of A. Lafave, well known to all the old timers of White Hills, died at Clifton, the latter part of last month.

Maurice Joyce, one of the early time miners of the Vivian section, died at the Sisters Hospital, in Phenix, Thursday afternoon, of consumption. He had been sent to Phenix a month or two ago in the hope that the milder climate of the Capital City would benefit his health, but the dread white plague had too strong a hold on his system. Mr. Joyce was well liked by all that knew him and his death will be mourned by a wide circle of Mohave county people.

Thursday evening Mrs. R. A. Robertson received a wire from her brother-in-law, in Oakland, stating that Mr. Robertson was dangerously ill and to come at once. She departed to Oakland on the first train. Mr. Robertson left here Tuesday morning and arrived at Oakland very ill. It is thought that a diagnosis of his case developed some dangerous symptom and that an operation is necessary. The many friends of the family in this county hope that he will recover his health speedily.

That northern Mohave and Coconino counties are heavily timbered is evidenced by the recent report of one of the government timber experts in his summing up of the timber belts of the Buckskin and Kaibab plateaus, the greater part of which is in this county. The experts are now in the timber laying out blocks of lands embracing the pines suitable for timber and platting it for use of the forest department. Already a bid for one hundred millions of feet of this timber has been made and should it be sold to the bidders a railroad will at once be constructed into the timber and on to the rim of the canyon, one of the most picturesque spots on the American continent.

George W. Brown, the octogenarian, who was reported ill last week, died at Hotel Beale last Thursday afternoon. His funeral took place this morning from the M. E. church. Mr. Brown had been a resident of Kingman the past year, coming here from Oakland to promote a mining proposition in which he was very much interested. He claimed to have a secret process for the extraction of the metals from the ores, but what the method was or whether it was applicable to the ores of his mines is unknown and the secret died with him. His wife was with him when the end came.

Mr. Johnson, of Williams and Cataract Canyon, was in Kingman the past week looking into matters appertaining to the generation of electric power. He has a site in Cataract Canyon, which he believes to be one of the best and most available power sites in the territory. The power will be taken from one of the big waterfalls of the canyon and his belief is that thousands of horsepower can be generated from that source. As northern Arizona needs cheap power we believe that a big generating plant in the canyon would solve the problem to a considerable extent. The falls are about two hundred feet and the volume of water is large. A converging of all the waters from the two falls would give immense volume of power that could be commercially distributed all over northern Arizona.

Mrs. Charles A. Ballard, accompanied by her two children and aunt Mrs. Howie, arrived Tuesday evening from their home in Waukesha, Wis., to visit with relatives and friends. Mrs. Ballard will be best known to the old timers of this county by her maiden name of Mabel Steen. She was met in Kingman by her aunt, Mrs. Ida Crozier and other relatives, and departed Thursday to Crozier, where she will visit for a week or more. Mrs. Ballard has many warm friends in this part of Arizona and is always welcomed here as a native daughter of Mohave county, having been born at Mineral Park in the early eighties. Her parents were killed at Mineral Park in the spring of 1884, by the undermining of their house in the terrific storm that swept over the country at that time, she and a brother being the only ones in the building to escape.

Withdrawal of Lands.

Secretary Ballinger has issued an order withdrawing an immense tract of land along the Bill Williams Fork, the Big Sandy and the Santa Maria from entry. The tract embraces one mile on each side of the three streams, beginning twenty miles from the confluence of the Santa Maria with Bill Williams Fork and from Signal, on the Big Sandy, to the confluence of Bill Williams Fork and the entire length of Bill Williams Fork, covering the recently located dam sites of the Pittsburg company. It has long been the intention of the government to put a dam on the Bill Williams Fork, at Striped Canyon, from which point water could be carried by flume and tunnel onto the valleys of Yuma county, the most fertile part of the great southwest. These lands are adopted to the culture of oranges, banana, lemons, pineapples and other tropical and semi tropical fruits. In carrying out the conservation theory of the government affecting water and power sites Bill Williams Fork has been put down as the ultimate site of a great water and power project. The report of the engineers on this project has always been favorable, even the engineers of the Santa Fe favoring a damsite on this stream. The building of the dam at Striped Canyon would back the water up the Santa Maria and Sandy many miles, which accounts for the withdrawal of the lands along these streams. As the lands one mile or more from the streams rise into the bluffs and hills it was unnecessary to cover them by withdrawal, which leaves them open to the prospector and stockman.

There is every prospect that the Clark railroad will invade Mohave county, passing through the northwest part, near Littlefield and across the country to Moapa, where it will join the already established road. The recent washing out of the line from above Calienta, throughout the Meadow Valley Wash, compels the railroad company to seek another route for the road that will place it above the possibility of washouts. To do this the road will have to be laid across the country in the south part of Utah, crossing Washington county and probably taking in St George and on to Littlefield, in the northwest corner of this county, whence it will cross Me-quite flats to Moapa. The road would open up one of the greatest agricultural sections of the state of Utah and the only large agricultural section of Mohave county. Surveyors are already looking over that part of the country and it is believed that their report will be favorable to the St George proposition. The railroad will be shortened a considerable distance by the new route and will be one of the best that could be found. If the road is rebuilt over the Littlefield route it is probable that a branch will be brought down through this county and extended to Jerome, where Clark has immense mining interests.

Kingman must have a hotel that will meet the demands of the public, the present hostleries being inadequate. There is not a hotel in Kingman owning or operating its own dining room, the kitchens being leased to Chinese. A hotel having at least 100 rooms and dining room run along the best modern lines is necessary to meet the requirements of a town of the importance of Kingman. Nightly dozens of applicants for rooms are turned away from the hotels and people coming in on late trains have to find their way the best they can with their luggage to the antiquated lodging houses of the town. Now is the time for the Chamber of Mines to do its missionary work in behalf of a hotel that will be a hotel in fact and not in name. The demands of an hotel of high grade is imperative to the upbuilding and prosperity of the town.

Do You Want A Position As Enumerator?

An examination will be held in Kingman on February 5, 1910, to ascertain the qualifications of those who may have applied for the position of census enumerators. If application is made to the supervisor of the census for Arizona a card will be issued that entitles you to admission to the examination. For further information the applicant should address Hon. O. D. M. Gaddis, postmaster, Kingman, Arizona.

W. S. Gruninger has the lumber on the ground, on the lots east of the Miner office, and is soon to begin the construction of a carpenter shop.

Copper at Reef

H. Welte, who has been operating in the old Silver Reef country for the Reef Mining company of this city, was up conferring with local officials Thursday, and he brought with him samples of the product being mined at the Reef claims. Recently in the workings below the incline shaft on the No. 1 claim a foot of ore showing values of from 150 to 200 ounces in silver, was uncovered, and the management felt so encouraged with the showing made that it has been decided to carry on future operations on a much larger scale, and negotiations are now pending on arrangements which will make such work possible.

Mr. Welte has also recently opened up a big copper ledge on the company's ground, a ledge which he states has been long sought for, but which until he finally located it, has proven elusive. Basing his prospecting on the outcroppings of copper ore which are exposed in several places, Mr. Welte, made a series of open cuts and by this means he finally succeeded in his search for the big ledge. Mr. Welte states that this ledge is about two and one half feet thick and that it can be traced for a distance of a mile and a half. He has made four open cuts on it and at a depth of fifteen feet on the No. 4 and No. 5 claims the ore shows from 25 to 75 per cent copper. On claims 2 and 3 a product running 13 per cent copper and from 60 to 70 ounces silver has been opened up, and Mr. Welte feels that with the inauguration of the campaign of work now being planned the Reef will be able to develop a big producer.—Tribune.
